

DCFASHION WEEK Celebrates Tenth Fashion Week
A Must Attend Event for 2009

The nation's capital's fashion week will feature designers from around the world. Mongolia, Taiwan, South Africa and the United States are just some of the countries that will exhibit during fashion week (February 15-22, 2009). The tenth International Couture Collections Show will take place at the Embassy of France, Washington DC on February 22, 2009.

DC Fashion Week was recently listed by the Washington Post as one of the must attend events for 2009. DC Fashion Week also made the top 100 events in Washington (# 4 fashion event) according to Biz Bash Magazine. Followers of fashion will get a sneak preview of what's to come in 2009 by attending the Washington Presidential Fashion Show. This inaugural event is produced by the organizers of DC Fashion Week and will feature collections from ten fashion houses. This historic event takes place on January 18, 2009.

"It's wonderful that Washington is finally recognized as one of the major fashion capitals of the world. Many policy changes such as fair trade, protection of the environment, and visas for models, that directly impact the fashion community are made here in Washington. It's only natural that designers come to DC to lobby their causes." says its executive director, Ean Williams.

The eight day event will include fashion industry networking parties, designer trunk shows, educational seminars, and runway fashion shows.

A partnership of independent fashion designers, producers and models, DCFASHIONWEEK creates increased economic development in the area of fashion design, clothing merchandising and modeling as well as enhances the visibility of the nation's capital as a center of international fashion. DC Fashion Week is held twice a year (February/September) and draws thousand of patrons to its shows. The schedule of events is available on the company's website www.dcfashionweek.org.
